Join us for a dialogue between Miroslava Chávez-García (History) and John S.W. Park (Asian American Studies) about Chávez-García’s new book, Migrant Longing and Park’s new book, Immigration Law and Society. Refreshments will be served.

Thursday, March 7 | 4:00 pm
McCune Conference Room, 6020 HSSB

MIROSLAVA CHÁVEZ-GARCÍA
Migrant Longing: Letter Writing across the U.S.-Mexico Borderlands
(University of North Carolina, 2018)

Migrant Longing draws upon Miroslava Chávez-García’s personal collection of 300 letters exchanged by family members across the U.S.-Mexico border, illuminating what migrants experienced in their everyday lives both “here” and “there” (aqui y alla). Chávez-García uses these private, firsthand accounts to demonstrate not only how migrants struggled to maintain their sense of humanity in el norte but also how those remaining at home made sense of their changing identities in response to the loss of loved ones.

JOHN S.W. PARK
Immigration Law and Society
(Polity Press, 2018)

In Immigration Law and Society (2018), John S.W. Park makes sense of the political history and the social impacts of immigration law, showing how legislation has reflected both domestic concerns and wider foreign policy. Park examines how legal immigration law reforms have inspired radically different responses across all levels of government, from cooperation to outright disobedience, and how they continue to fracture broader political debates.
