

The UC Santa Barbara Interdisciplinary Humanities Center and the College of Letters and Science present

THE 2021 ARTHUR N. RUPE GREAT DEBATE

Taming Titans: How Should We Regulate Big Tech?

TUESDAY, MAY 18 | 4:00 PM

MICHAEL J. BURSTEIN
Yeshiva University, Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law

SONIA KATYAL
The University of California, Berkeley, School of Law

KATE KLONICK
St. John's University, School of Law

RANDAL C. PICKER
The University of Chicago, The Law School

Experts on law and technology will debate how Amazon, Apple, Facebook, Google, and Microsoft should be regulated. Are they 21st-century trusts? Guardians of free speech? Threats to our privacy? Do they impede or fuel innovation? Join us for a lively discussion of the role big tech companies play in our lives and the role they should play in the coming decade.

Live closed-captioning and Spanish interpretation provided

Se proveerá el subtítulo para personas sordas en tiempo real e interpretación al español

Made possible by an endowment from the Arthur N. Rupe Foundation

INTERDISCIPLINARY
Humanities
CENTER

UC SANTA BARBARA

Free online event
REGISTER NOW
bit.ly/Taming-Titans