

INTERDISCIPLINARY
Humanities
CENTER

Conference:

The Future of the Lumpenproletariat: A Conference in Memory of Glyn Salton-Cox

FRIDAY–SATURDAY, MAY 24–25 | 9:00 AM–5:00 PM

McCune Conference Room, 6020 HSSB | Learn more at: ihc.ucsb.edu/events

This conference will explore the Marxist concept of the lumpenproletariat, which was initially translated into English as “social scum.”

SPEAKERS INCLUDE:

Maurizia Boscagli (UCSB)

Katherine Connelly (New York University London)

Catherine Liu (UC Irvine)

Colleen Lye (UC Berkeley)

Ben V. Olgúin (UCSB)

Robert Weide (CSU, Los Angeles)

Keynote: Cedric Johnson (University of Illinois, Chicago)

Organizers: R Baker, Tannishtha Bhattacharjee, Ted Giardello, and Somak Mukherjee

Cosponsored by the IHC's Graduate Collaborative Award; Ben V. Olgúin, Robert and Liisa Erickson Presidential Chair in English & UCSB Global Latinidades Center; the Carsey-Wolf Center; Amazon and Economic Justice Research Project; the Department of English; the Graduate Division; the Center on Modern Culture, Materialism, and Aesthetics (COMMA); Medieval Literatures; Bishnupriya Ghosh; the Early Modern Center; the Division of Humanities and Fine Arts; the Office of the Executive Vice Chancellor; the Department of Germanic and Slavic Studies; the Department of Global Studies; Literature and the Environment; the Department of Film and Media Studies; the Department of Feminist Studies; the Central Coast Labor Center; and the Hull Endowed Chair

Image: Riot In The Galleria (1910) by Umberto Boccioni

