In this talk, Vincent Brown will argue that to resist the tide of repression that threatens the teaching of Black history, we should look to that past to understand the ongoing processes that have shaped our world. By understanding it, we might discern the scope, force, direction, and likelihood of the changes ahead—and be guided by the example and the wisdom of our ancestors. Audience Q&A and a reception will follow.

Vincent Brown is the Charles Warren Professor of American History and Professor of African and African American Studies at Harvard University. He is the author of The Reaper's Garden: Death and Power in the World of Atlantic Slavery and Tacky's Revolt: The Story of an Atlantic Slave War.

Cosponsored by the IHC's Key Passages series and Harry Girvetz Memorial Endowment
