

INTERDISCIPLINARY Humanities
CENTER

UC SANTA BARBARA
College of Letters & Science

Center for Taiwan Studies
台灣研究中心

INTERDISCIPLINARY SINOPHONE CONFERENCE

Over the past decade, Sinophone studies has emerged as a dynamic, interdisciplinary field, offering a flexible framework to explore the interconnections among Sinitic-speaking communities.

The Interdisciplinary Sinophone Conference aims to foster intellectually inclusive, creative, and rigorous conversations about the Sinophone world. It aims to enhance interdisciplinary perspectives in Sinophone studies, with a primary focus on literary studies, Indigenous studies, ethnomusicology, and gender and sexuality studies in Sinophone communities and beyond.

Panel Speakers

Dr. Kyle Shernuk

Assistant Professor of Chinese
Literature & Culture, Georgetown University

Dr. Ho Chak Law

Assistant Professor in Race and
Musicology, The New School

Dr. Dian Dian

LGBTQ+ & Feminist activist; Ph.D. in
WGSS, Emory University

May 19, 2025

9 a.m. - 5:15 p.m.

Morning session: HSSB 2252

Afternoon session: SSMS 3145

Contact us

rose_kuo@ucsb.edu